Trout Season One Of Best In 25 Years

One of the best trout season openings in 25 years was the way Floyd Bachman, Monroe County fish warden summed up yesterday's opener of the 108-day period.

While the weather wasn't exactly ideal when the hundreds of Izaak Walton's donned their gear in the early morning hours, a bright sun made its appearance in the morning and stayed around all day, warming the air and brightening fishermen's hopes.

Bachman toured the county throughout the day and returned to express his opinion favorably. "Under conditions which we've had before today this is about the best first day I've seen in my 25 years of association with the fishing business," Bachman recalled one other opening day when the temperature was 70 and water was 50 degrees, citing that day as the best he's seen.

Yesterday's temperatures hovered in the mid-30s early in the morning, then climbed steadily, reaching 60 by mid-afternoon. Bachman said the water was 40 degrees.

A frost settled over the Snow Hill region, Bachman said, and it was fairly cold in the southern section of Monroe County.

"I checked about 40 fishermen in my travels today," Bachman related. "I counted about 130 fish in that number, so I'd say if they didn't get their limit most of them caught four or five."

One of the largest fish Bachman saw yesterday was a trout 17 inches long caught by Carl Frailey, 383 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg. He hooked two others as well, both good size.

Arthur Bachman, Stroudsburg, RD3, had eight brook trout by 7:30 a.m., then had to quit for the day. Eight fish is the legal limit. Largest was 15 inches.

One spot visited by Bachman was the former power dam on Brodheads Creek southeast of Stroudsburg. Built by Metropolitan Edison Co. about 1900, the dam was inoperable for many years and last fall was dynamited to open the stream and provide better fishing grounds for area sportsmen.

"The power company and Pocono Mountains Sportsmen's Association deserve plenty of credit for making that section of the stream one of the best for fishing today," said Bachman.

Along practically all streams of the county fishermen cast lines for a share of the 20 to 25 thousand brook, rainbow, and brown trout valued about $18,000.

While streams were slightly over normal they didn't interfere with the fishing. Conditions throughout the state were generally favorable, officials reported.

Limited to eight fish, with the legal size stipulate at six inches, fishermen have fertile ground to satisfy their desires before the seasons closes at midnight, July 31.

Population Set At 158,848,000

Washington (AP)—The Census Bureau yesterday estimated that the nation's population on March 1 was 158,848,000.

This was an increase of 191,000 over the bureau's estimate of 158,657,000 for Feb. 1 and an increase of 2,651,000 over the bureau's estimate of population on March 1, 1952.

Pentagon Orders On Korean Ammo Amounted To Slowdown

Washington, (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said yesterday the nation's military planners have committed "one tragic mistake after another" in dealing with ammunition problems in the Korean War.

For one thing, Byrd said it seemed the Army did its planning under Defense Department instructions which virtually amounted to an order to "slow down" and not buy huge quantities of ammunition.

He referred to instructions which, Army witnesses said, came from Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall in 1950, and were repeated later when Robert A. Lovett was secretary of defense. The instructions were to the effect that, for budgetary purposes, the Army was to assume the Korean War would be a short conflict, which would end in six months or a year.

The Virginia senator's remark came in the midst of testimony by a parade of Pentagon generals who tried to explain why various factors—such as red tape, budgetary troubles and orders from higher ups—kept the Army pinched for some types of ammunition in the Far East conflict.

Another measure, placing the State Council of Civil Defense under the Department of Military Affairs won unanimous approval. In another important vote, the Senate rejected, 46 to 1, a Chesterman bill to abolish the Mines Department and place it within the Department of Labor and Industry.

State Extends Bonus Deadline

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday signed into law a bill extending the deadline for acceptance of applications for the World War II veteran's bonus.

The bill allows legal residents of Pennsylvania who served in the armed forces during the war to apply for the 1947 bonus of up to $500 until Dec. 31, 1953. The deadline had previously been Dec. 31, 1951.

Abolishment Of Commerce Dept. Voted

Harrisburg (AP)—The Senate voted yesterday to abolish the State Commerce Department estimated to save $1,180,000 a biennium.

The whopping 46-1 vote came less than 24 hours after the upper branch approved a proposed merger of the Health, Welfare and Public Assistance Departments into a single agency.

Acceptance of these two major recommendations of the State Government Survey Committee contrasted sharply with wholesale rejection of previous Chesterman proposals.

The Senate went on to pass nine other reorganization recommendations, all of which went to the House.

The House met briefly without taking any action on proposals for a 2 per cent sales tax which has had rough going for three weeks. Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, predicted the General Assembly is in for a marathon session unless the sales tax is approved. The GOP majority lacks the necessary 105 votes to pass the levy.

In previous weeks, the Senate, where all Chesterman bills originated, had been fit to approve only five of the measures designed to promote efficiency and economy in state government.

Another 20 bills have been voted down by senators who believed the proposed changes would produce no savings or would not be feasible.

Abolishment of the commerce department would be accomplished by two bills which won surprisingly strong approval despite a desultory session otherwise. The Senate floor was scarcely half full before voting on the commerce department issue.

All but three seats occupied by senators on leave of absence were filled, however, when the vote began. Sen. Donald P. McPherson (R-Adams) cast the only dissenting vote. He told a newsmen tourist business people in his district opposed the bill.

One of the three on leave is Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R-Monroe), who is convalescing at his home after undergoing surgery at Monroe County General Hospital.

Sen. Elmer Holland (D-Allegheny), long an advocate of abolishing the commerce department, said enactment of the bill will mean the end of "the biggest pork barrel in the state."

Another measure, placing the State Council of Civil Defense under the Department of Military Affairs won unanimous approval. In another important vote, the Senate rejected, 46 to 1, a Chesterman bill to abolish the Mines Department and place it within the Department of Labor and Industry.

The Virginia senator's remark came in the midst of testimony by a parade of Pentagon generals who tried to explain why various factors—such as red tape, budgetary troubles and orders from higher ups—kept the Army pinched for some types of ammunition in the Far East conflict.

Reds Directing Giant Dope Ring, U.S. Report Says

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—The United States accused the Red China government yesterday of directing a giant dope smuggling ring to finance its war economy and spread drug addiction among American troops in the Far East.

In a 24-page report giving names, dates and places, U. S. Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger told the U. N. Commission on Narcotics Drugs the Peiping regime was operating a state monopoly on the production of opium and heroin and distributing it through a vast ring of Chinese, Japanese and Korean Communist smugglers.

Anslinger told the commission the main aims of the Red Chinese dope traffic were "monetary gain, financing political activity in various countries and sabotage."

Bethlehem Marine Pleads Innocent

Grand Island, Neb. (AP)—Richard D. Getter, 17, Bethlehem, Pa., Marine, pleaded innocent yesterday to three charges filed against him in connection with the death of a girl companion, Dorothy Facknitz.

He was charged with motor vehicle homicide, abandoning a dead human body, and failure to render aid to a person injured in an accident. Getter maintained the girl fell from the running board of a truck he was driving the night of April 6. Her body was found beside a highway early the next morning. An autopsy showed she had died of a skull fracture.

Bomb Hurling Into Crowd Listening To Peron; Five Spectators Killed, Seven Gravely Hurt

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Thursday, (AP)—A bomb hurled during a fighting speech by President Juan D. Peron yesterday killed six listeners and set off a chain of violence and mob wreckage through the night in the Argentine capital.

One mob of 500 after leaving the Peron rally in the Plaza de Mayo destroyed the interior of the Socialist party headquarters by fire and burned its records and campaign literature.

Smaller mobs wrecked furnishings of restaurants and bars in downtown Buenos Aires.

There was a lull in mid-evening, but new violence flared anew at midnight, six hours after the bombing at the Peron rally.

The midnight raid was made by mobs storming the fashionable Jockey Club, symbol of anti-Peron sentiment. Doors and windows were smashed.

Eisenhower To Deliver Major Address Today

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower worked about three hours yesterday on a major foreign policy speech he will deliver in Washington today on "the chances for peace for all the peoples of the world in 1953."

Eisenhower will interrupt his vacation to fly back to the capital for the speech at a luncheon meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It will be televised and radio broadcast on all national networks (1 p.m., EST).

Aides to the President regard the speech as the most important in the foreign policy field since he took office. It reportedly may set forth a specific program designed to test the sincerity of the recent rash of Russian peace overtures. After the speech he will go out to Griffith Stadium to toss out the first baseball at the game between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees.

Clark Receives Peace Talk Instruction.

Washington, (AP)—The United States has instructed Gen. Mark Clark, the U. N. commander, what reply to give the Communists on their proposal to resume negotiations for a Korean armistice, officials here said last night.

While the instructions were not said, the officials did not say what the instructions were. It was assumed generally that Clark would accept the Red offer. But there was no immediate hint as to when he might suggest a reopening of talks or what conditions he would lay down.

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and Russia, in rare agreement, lined up yesterday behind a Brazilian resolution which expresses the hope that further negotiations at Pannunjom will achieve an early armistice in Korea.

That unusual teamwork between U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross and Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky came in the U. N. Political Committee after Vishinsky lambasted the United States, charging it was slow to answer Communist appeals for resumption of truce talks.

Gross briefly replied that the U. S. believed the sound course is for the U. N. Assembly to keep its hands off the Pannunjom talks until they are completed. He said he would support the Brazilian proposal, which was drafted as a counter-move against a Polish omnibus peace plan backed by Vishinsky.

Remington Begins Serving Sentence

New York (AP)—William W. Remington, former government economist convicted of perjury in denying Communist connections, surrendered yesterday to begin serving a three-year sentence. He still protested his innocence.

The former Department of Commerce official was convicted last Jan. 27 and had been free on bail. He is 35 years old.

A federal jury convicted him of lying under oath during a previous trial in denying he ever gave secret information to a Communist courier and in denying he knew there was a Young Communist League at Dartmouth College when he was a student there.

Other mobs attacked the headquarters of the Radical party, principal opposition to the Peronista party.

Peron himself was not hurt at the rally.

Seven spectators were gravely injured by bomb fragments and trampling in a stampede away from the scene.

After a shocked pause Peron went on with his speech, ad-libbing on the blast and blaming outside and underground enemies for Argentina's troubles.

When the Peron rally broke up, the crowd dispersed in small mobs to roam downtown Buenos Aires on taunting and destructive forays.

The headquarters of the Socialist party Casa del Pueblo (house of the people), 20 blocks from the Plaza de Mayo, was set afire by one roving gang. Papers from the Socialist offices were hurled into the street.

Other gangs broke windows in tenements on the Calle Corrientes in the heart of the theater district.

Peron had finished his speech in the Plaza de Mayo with accelerating anger.

A second, smaller bomb exploded a few minutes after the first but caused no casualties.

After the first blast, Peron thundered a threat to hang the guilty from trees when they can be found.

The bigger bomb exploded 300 feet from where Peron was speaking on a balcony of Government House overlooking the plaza.

The President and his Cabinet ministers, pro-government labor leaders and officers of the armed forces who surrounded him were well out of the danger zone.

Jobless Welder Goes Berserk, Slays Seven In Family, Self

Lawrence, Mass. (AP)—A berserk unemployed boiler welder hacked and shot to death seven and possibly eight members of his family in seven bloody hours yesterday and then killed himself as police closed in on him last night.

Police identified the killer as Peter Akulonis, 39, who lost his job recently in a Lawrence boiler plant.

He had an old record, police said, for breaking and entering and drunkenness but was known to authorities in recent years as "a quiet, homeloving man."

The dead included his wife, his 3-year-old son, his mother, two brothers and two nephews, 5 and 2. Another son is missing and, police said, possibly dead.

Police said Akulonis raided the home of his brother Alphonse in Lawrence early in the afternoon where he killed his mother, and Alphonse and the latter's two sons.

They were all hacked to death with a carpenter's axe.

Apparently in a manicured frenzy, the man then raced to his own home—three miles away in Methuen—where police said he killed his wife and one of his two sons with the same axe.

Earlier he had taken another son out of a nearby school.

Police believe he hacked the boy to death. They were searching last night for his body.

Stockholders Okay Merger Of Three Phone Companies

Bangor (AP)—The merger of three Eastern Pennsylvania phone companies—the Pennsylvania Community Telephone Co., the Wisconsin Telephone and Telegraph Co., and the Southern Telephone and Telegraph Co.—was approved yesterday by stockholders.

Under the plan of reorganization the new company will be known as the Pennsylvania Community Telephone Co. The plan is to be submitted to the state Public Utility Commission for approval.

Allan Ryder, vice president of Pennsylvania Community, presided at the meeting.

The Wisconsin Co. operates in Dauphin County, the Pennsylvania Community in parts of Monroe and Northampton Counties and the Southern T. and T. in Lancaster County.

19 Survive Crash Of Plane; Engine Failure To Be Probed

Seattle, (AP)—An investigation was begun yesterday into the crash of a chartered troop-carrying plane early Tuesday in the Cascade Mountains with the loss of six lives.

Nineteen persons survived the disaster as a thick growth of towering trees apparently provided a cushion for the crash of the crippled plane. Both the living and the dead were brought down from the mountainside in a dramatic rescue operation by land and air that extended through the afternoon and much of the night. Only one of the survivors was reported in critical condition yesterday.

One of the aspects certain to come under Civil Aeronautics Board investigation was the report by some of the survivors that the Miami Airline DC3 turned back to Chicago for a four-hour engine repair job on the flight westward. One of the plane's last radio reports before the crash told of the failure of one of its two engines during a night snowstorm over the Cascades.

The plane was chartered by 22 soldiers from the East Coast to speed their trip west to meet the deadline for reporting for embarkation to Japan and Korea.

Four of the soldiers died with the pilot and co-pilot.

They were: Anthony Ciani of Dunmore, Pa., whose name was listed as Glanc in the passenger list from Washington, where the flight originated; James F. Kountz, Bloomsburg, Pa.; Stephen Koscho, Eynon, Pa.; Pvt. Constant J. Orski, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Six other Pennsylvanians escaped with their lives.

Two of the men—Kountz and Koscho—were married on Easter Monday, Kountz to Marlene Watts of Mainville and Koscho to Irene Wagner of Jessup.

The men were members of the 101st Airborne Division and had completed their basic training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky. Each was given a 12-day leave and were headed for Ft. Lewis, Wash. They participated in the chartering of the aircraft and boarded the plane at the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton Airport at Avoca.

U. S. Spotter Planes Meet Ack-Ack Fire

Munsan, Korea, Thursday (AP)—The Communists used convoys of disabled Allied prisoners heading southward yesterday to shield huge military supply movements and drove off U. S. spotter planes with furious anti-aircraft fire.

The first convoy of sick and wounded Allied prisoners was due to reach Kaesong, Red armistice headquarters, today for exchange beginning Monday. Two other convoys were en route over roads jammed with Red military traffic.

U. S. reconnaissance pilots spotted two of the convoys yesterday and the third today, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said.

The third convoy was seen rolling down a main supply route between Huiwon and Kumu, 70 air miles east of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

A few minutes later, at 9 a.m., Allied pilots sighted one of the other two convoys 15 miles south of Pyongyang.

Pilots spotted the first convoy entering Pyongyang yesterday. They saw the second at Sinanju, in northwest Korea.

Circling low to take a close look and to photograph the prisoner convoys, pilots said they were driven off by savage anti-aircraft fire. One flier said he had never before seen so many Communist vehicles on the move over Korean roads.

At the other end of the repatriation road, 770 Chinese sick and wounded from Cheju Island staged a 2½ hour sit-down demonstration at Pusan. They left sullenly but without violence, only after U. S. guards came aboard with fixed bayonets.

The prisoners' through spokesmen made numerous demands, such as allowing one of their leaders to go ahead and inspect prisoner facilities.

The incidents deeply disturbed Allied authorities anxious to bring off without a hitch next week's exchange of 600 Allied sick and wounded, including 120 Americans.

There also were reports that some sick and wounded North Koreans on Koje had caused some sort of trouble but these could not be confirmed.

The Reds still have not broken down by nationality the number of non-Korean Allied prisoners they will start handing over next Monday. A Communist correspondent at Pannunjom said some Americans were in at least one of the first three convoys, but gave no number.

Meantime a U. N. Prisoner of War Command spokesman said the number of Chinese sick and wounded to be repatriated may be increased from 700 to 930. He said besides the 770 Chinese brought from Cheju there were 160 disabled at a prison hospital near Pusan who want to go home.

Russia Reported To Have Delivered A-Bomb To China

London, (AP)—The man who predicted Russia's first atomic explosion said last night the Soviet Union delivered an atom bomb to Communist China on March 4.

Kenneth De Courcy, an editor, said the information came "from two reliable intelligence sources, operating independently each from the other."

This and other reports purporting to deal with conditions in the Communist world will appear Friday in De Courcy's weekly review special service.

The editor claims to have his own sources of information behind the Iron Curtain. While Western governments treat his reports with reserve, he has made some successful predictions.

Planes Attack Enemy Seoul, Thursday (AP)—Allied warplanes yesterday hit the Communists all across North Korea—except for an attack-free corridor along the route the Reds said they were using to convoy Allied sick and wounded prisoners toward repatriation.

West End Fair Progress

Directors of the West End Fair Association this week again displayed their recognition of community responsibility by contributing $100 to each of three fire companies which serve in the six township region which conducts fair operations.

This organization is one of the most unique of its kind in Pennsylvania. This year it will be presenting its 32nd annual exhibit of agriculture products and by-products at the Gilbert Fair grounds.

Founded by residents of six West End Townships, the fair is a show place of native pride in agricultural achievement by the men and women of the West End, their sons and daughters. Most of the people who labor to produce exhibits, labor just as hard to set up and tear down the giant one-day affair—largely on a volunteer basis.

Over the years the fair officials have not stood still. They have expanded their fair grounds facilities constantly. At their meeting this week, they decided to keep that progress rolling by adding ten acres to the fair grounds.

These worthy people are to be commended for the progressive effort they expend on their West End Fair, and for their support of such worthwhile community services as volunteer fire companies.

The Absentee Voter

In the hands of the State Senate is a bill to amend the state constitution in order to permit absentee voting, passed last week with the unanimous vote of the House and now before the senators for their approval.

We hope the Senate will take a favorable view on this matter, which in the past has caused many citizens to miss their vote through no fault of their own. Even should the Senate take this desirable action in the present session, it would have to be approved by a later legislature and then submitted to the state for approval before it could be put into action.

Not only would those citizens who were forced to be away from their homes be allowed to vote, even though out of the state on the day of elections, but those who are ill or have physical disabilities would also be allowed to use an absentee ballot. At the present time only those in military service are accorded the right of an absentee ballot.

Our neighbor state of New York has long provided an absentee ballot for its citizens, and we in Pennsylvania have been derelict in not affording our voters the similar privilege.

Let's see it go through the Senate with the same unanimity given it by the House, and thus take another step in the direction of facilitating the voting of our men and women.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

It's All Done By Mirrors

Do the presidents, vice-presidents, general managers and directors of some of the biggest corporations in the country, sponsoring airway programs which blueprint criminal rousings play by play, have no sense of guilt when they pick up a paper and read the news of shocking juvenile crime all over the land? The number of horror programs being pumped into American homes as a sales pitch for big industries is enough to give a parent the creeps. Do none of these corporation biggies, all considered men of the finest type and highest responsibility in their communities, have children of their own? And if so, are they never revolted by the idea of cashing in on the harm done to the kids of others? In our book any parent can ask these questions without being blasted as a prude, a bluenose and just a poor unsophisticated guy, who doesn't know the facts of life.

We saw four murders in seven minutes in a half-hour early evening TV program the other night. Every phase of viciousness was in it with glamorous overtones. It was in a crime series sponsored by one of the ten top industries of the country. And the sponsorship was no exception to the rule. Yes, Mister, the kids of past generations have always been able to get thrilling crime stories, but not until today have they been able to get them, wonderfully pictured in every detail by glamorous performers as a steady diet. Never before has it been considered okay to pump home and fireside full of criminal routines, and all under the heading of good clean family entertainment. Anybody who can ask "How could that happen?" when a youth of good family bumps off five people in two days just doesn't know or care what's going on over the radio and video. You have to be cockeyed to think that kids who can twist a knob and see stickups, muggings, assaults and murders on a quantity-production basis six nights a week can possibly develop a proper sense of repugnance to low-life behavior patterns. (Preaching, eh? Yeah. We have been reading too many heartbreaking stories of kids in criminal activities, and checking on too many airway programs to get the "Who cares?" mood so prevalent.) The kids seem almost to be target Number One. The annual promises of telecasters and broadcasters to cease blueprinting crimes are "for the birds." The smug, pipe-smoking Mister Bigs of fiscal corporations who cash in on the programs seem undisturbed. The many meetings at which speakers sound off on the causes of juvenile crime are studied in futility. Buster, don't pull that one about the finish always showing that crime is naughty! Hoodlumism is made so spectacular, dramatic, big time and colorful until the last thirty seconds that the kids only laugh at the "Now, dear people, do you realize how evil crime is?" finale.

If a kid gets to fifth grade in school today without more information on underworld operations than police reporters used to obtain after a lifetime in the station houses and criminal courts, it's because there's no outside aerial on home, sweet home. Shocked by lawlessness? Rub, the small fry regard it as run-of-the-mill behavior sponsored by the best people.

I will, I freeze, I sense deep harm;
The Kremlin now goes in for charm!
Take a couple of syllables out of the name of the new U. N. secretary general (Dag Hammarskjöld) and you have "Dagmar." . . . Put Helen Traubel, famous opera star, with Jimmy Durante on video, as was done the other night, and you get just about one of the most rollicking funny acts possible . . . Shirley Booth, now getting top acclaim for "Time of the Cuckoo" and "Sheba," got her start back home with S. Z. Pold's stock company . . . The Russian switch may be part of a program to last five or six years'—News Item . . . A sort of "Seven Year Switch," as it were . . . The U. S. GREASED PIG:

Robert S. Allen Reports

Chiang Is Stopped Cold In Attempt To Raid Treasury

Washington — Chiang Kai-shek has had a harrowing experience.

The Nationalist generalissimo was stopped cold in an attempt to raid the U. S. Treasury.

He tried to collect $2,600,000 for property in Red China that the U. S. never got. But he was turned down flat.

The rebuff virtually unnerved his henchmen in the Nationalist embassy here. It was a new and shocking event for them, and they didn't know what to make of it.

Following are the details of this unique affair:

In 1943, after lengthy negotiations, the U. S. finally arranged with the Nationalists to purchase a number of buildings and sites to house State Department offices in various Chinese cities. But before this property could be taken over, the Nationalist regime collapsed and Chiang fled to Formosa.

The U. S. withheld payment for the property on the ground that it never got it.

But that little detail didn't stop Chiang. His Washington Ambassador presented a bill to the Truman Administration for $2,600,000, claiming that was the amount due on the property sold to the U. S.—but which it never got.

The Nationalist didn't get nowhere.

It was firmly rejected on the advice of Leland King, head of the State Department's Division of Foreign Buildings Operations. He submitted a report that held the Nationalists' demand was unjustified. Nothing more was heard from them on this until recently.

Then, once again, Chiang tried to collect—this time from the new Eisenhower regime.

But Chiang had no better luck than before. King again advised rejection, and that's what happened. It was a big job to the Nationalists who thought they had a lot of open-handed friends among the GOP.

Note: Since 1949, the U. S. has spent upwards of $500,000,000 in economic and military aid to the Nationalists. This year's expenditures are around $100,000,000.

Another Anno Shortage—The committee headed by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.) isn't the only one that is probing ammunition shortages.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is also investigating along that line.

Mrs. Smith is checking up on the ammunition situation in Korea; the Foreign Relations unannounced scrutiny deals with NATO.

This backstage inquiry is disclosed in the unpublished transcript of a Committee meeting with General Alfred Gruenther during his visit to Washington. The Chief of Staff of NATO was questioned about ammunition by Senator Alexander Wiley (R., Wis.), Committee chairman.

Gruenther discreetly ducked outright admission that NATO is experiencing shortages, but didn't deny they exist.

"Are you aware," asked Wiley, "that General Ridgway has sent word that arms and equipment supplies aren't coming through fast enough?"

"Yes, sir," replied Gruenther, "I know that. He sent that information as a U. S. officer. I am on the international side in my work at NATO."

"That's a most diplomatic answer," grinned Wiley.

"The personal information I have," added Gruenther, "is that the volume of equipment is increasing. Shipments have jumped way up of late. But, apparently, there are still shortages in both equipment and ammunition. Exactly what they are, I am not advised. But I understand they do exist."

"That is our understanding, too," said Wiley, "and we are looking into the matter. We intend to find out just what is going on. We want to know exactly what the shortages are and why they exist. There is no use having an army in Europe if it isn't adequately equipped with arms and ammunition to fight."

Branching Out—The U. S. is intensifying its fight against dope smuggling.

American undercover agents are now operating in foreign countries as part of this expanded drive to smash the vicious illicit narcotic traffic.

H. J. Anslinger, veteran head of the Bureau of Narcotics, disclosed this in a letter to Representative Samuel Yorty (D., Calif.). Yorty is sponsoring a bill that would impose a mandatory term of five years imprisonment on convicted dope peddlers. Anslinger heartily endorsed this measure, and gave Yorty a summary of the government's efforts to balk dope smuggling.

* Highlights of Anslinger's report are as follows:

"Additional funds and agents provided last year enable us to attack heroin sources in Italy, Turkey and France. Agents we sent to Turkey, where we had knowledge of the existence of underground factories, uncovered substantial sources of supply, including a clandestine laboratory in Istanbul. With the aid of Turkey's police, 90 individual engaged in this illicit trade were arrested."

"Our agents also went to Marseilles, where we knew of the existence of another important source of narcotics supply. There, with the aid of the French Surete, a number of persons were arrested who were connected with smugglers in this country. The same thing was done in Italy."

George Sokolsky Says...

Constant Improvement Of Living Conditions Is Tall Order For U. N. Human Rights Group

Covenant On Human Rights

Every once in a while, I wearily re-read the draft Covenants on Human Rights which the United Nations has been struggling to get into shape. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has been its principal advocate. My eye recently caught Article 10, which reads:

"The States Parties to the Covenant recognize the right of everyone to adequate food, clothing and housing."

How can anyone decide what is adequate about food, for instance? There is a young lady with plenty of money who eats melba toast, grapefruit, and drinks black coffee to keep her figure. Is she to be forced to eat a specific number of calories a day to satisfy the United Nations? Or there is a fat man, perhaps a 250-pounder, a diabetic if there ever was one, who likes napoleons with a heavy icing on top and who never eats pie except a la mode. Yet, he is always hungry.

Or, in the matter of clothing, particularly for women, what is adequate? So far as I have ever experienced, as a husband and father, no woman ever has enough clothes. Comes an occasion and she has nothing to wear. This is as true of the proletariat as it is of the rich ladies who wear mink coats. Is it adequate to have only one mink coat? Can it be worn in the Spring or Autumn? Surely, a woman who owns a mink coat must have a mink stole.

And is that adequate? Or does it depend on geography? If there is no Bergdorf Goodman in Belgrade, only a hand-me-down store, is that adequate or inadequate?

And whom do you sue, if it is inadequate?

But look at Article 11:

"The States Parties to the Covenant recognize the right of everyone to an adequate standard of living and the continuous improvement of living conditions."

How can any government guarantee a continuous improvement of living conditions? Let us say that a country's economy depends upon the export of linens. That used to be a big item for Czechoslovakia, Austria and China. So, somebody invents fancy plastic and paper table arrangements and somebody else invents washing machines and there are no longer any washerwomen to do home laundering and piff! goes the fancy linen market.

The total family income becomes less and therefore its standard of living goes down a peg. But Article 11 guarantees a "continuous improvement of living conditions." Who makes up the difference? Will the good housewives of Czechoslovakia sue the United States for preferring Kleenex to fancy linen handkerchiefs?

Or take the simple item of meat. Beef has never been too plentiful on the continent of Europe, but Americans like steaks. If the Europeans get to liking steaks instead of Wiener schnitzel and goulash, there might not be enough steers to go around. Who would maintain the balance of steers, or must there be a war about it?

All this sounds silly even as I write, and it is silly. It is impossible to guarantee a continuously rising standard of living in the face of droughts, floods, disease, wars, varieties of tastes and habits.

Even another question arises and I move into it timorously. Is a continuously rising standard of living good? Are we happier with nylons than we were with lisle hose? Are we really healthier with steaks than we were with stews? Does contentment come from two cars in every garage?

Many are beginning to ask those questions. I am a cliff-dweller. Every month I pay rent for this magnificent menage. At the end of 20 years, I shall still have nothing to show for my pains. My landlord is beginning to cut up the apartments in this building into smaller ones. From 10 rooms, he gets three apartments. Maybe, one day, he will cut up my home. The man with a small home in the country may not have all the conveniences of my ultra-high standard of living, but he probably lives a more orderly and composed life.

Who knows really what a high standard of life is? Can everything be measured by the consumption of butter or are there a few spiritual values such as peace of mind?

About all this, I am not sure nor do I believe that the United Nations Commission on Human Rights is sure either. A "continuous improvement of living conditions" is a tall order in any civilization.

Neither is there any Fifth Amendment when Judgment Day comes, behind which so many Communists and other evil-doers hide at the Senate hearings.

The Fifth Amendment to our Constitution, as all of you know, provides that no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself.

If you were asked whether you were a Communist and you invoked the Fifth Amendment as your answer, what do you think the world would think?

Here is a funny one.

E. Merl Young, husband of the former White House stenographer, whose mink coat figured so prominently in the last Presidential campaign, was being tried for perjury.

He was charged with lying about his finances before a Senate investigating committee.

His counsel asked for his client's acquittal. And what do you think he gave for his reason?

Even if Young did commit perjury, he could not be convicted of it, he said.

Young was before a Senate sub-committee. He was asked the question on which the charge was based after 12 o'clock noon.

A Senate sub-committee cannot function validly after 12 noon if the Senate itself is in session that day.

So, even if Young DID perjury, claimed the attorney, it was after-noon perjury. And afternoon perjury is perfectly legitimate in a case like that.

The judge scratched his head and admitted that he didn't know what to do. He'd have to look up the law on that.

So, if your house is robbed to-night, don't be sure that the burglar wasn't absolutely within his rights. There MAY be a law in your state that a burglary, committed during the midnight lunch hour of your local police, isn't burglary at all.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

The Chief of Police of Trenton, N. J., received an envelope in the mail. It was postmarked from an Arkansas town.

In the envelope was a check for $15 and a note which said, "I can't take it any longer. Here is your money."

The chief looked up the records and found that the sender was fined for speeding in 1950 but had skipped before he paid his fine.

Several people remarked how nice it was to find an honest man, a man who had a CONSCIENCE.

The chief who, like all policemen, has become somewhat of a cynic during his many years of dealing with men and women of various degrees of "honesty," wasn't quite so optimistic about this fellow.

"I think he's coming East again," he said.

I agree with Trenton's Chief of Police. Those belatedly honest people — Sunday Saints, I call them — aren't always motivated by pangs of conscience.

Very often they want to "come East" again. They might feel that unless they come clean they'll soon be caught and put in jail. Or, perhaps, they are getting ready for the day when they have to confront St. Peter with his record book which knows no statute of limitation.

Neither is there any Fifth Amendment when Judgment Day comes, behind which so many Communists and other evil-doers hide at the Senate hearings.

The Fifth Amendment to our Constitution, as all of you know, provides that no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself.

Jointure Endorsed By West End Lions Club Backs Building Of New School

Saylorburg—West End Lions Club went on record last night backing the Pleasant Valley Jointure and approving the building of the proposed five-township secondary school.

At a meeting in Lake House here, Lions from all West End townships and Hamilton approved a motion giving their unanimous approval to the jointure.

The motion was introduced by Rev. C. Clyde Levergood.

It said: "The West End Lions Club agrees to write each school director from all five townships and tell them that the Lions Club is backing this jointure and also the building of the new school."

As a part of the motion, the Lions also requested their secretary to "invite all school directors from each of the five boards to the next Lions Club meeting."

This meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 6—one night before the monthly meeting of the Pleasant Valley Joint School Board.

Prior to making his motion, Rev. Levergood referred to the effort to set up a cooperative, joint school community as "coming under the heading of progress."

School directors, Rev. Levergood said, have "thankless jobs." "We went to the polls and voted for these school directors," he said. "We gave them our endorsement. If we do not back them up now it wouldn't be easy to ask another good man to run for the office of school director."

"We dare not be indifferent," he concluded.

The program for last night's meeting was devoted largely to a discussion of the jointure and its current inability to find a site for the proposed secondary school building.

Tom Rogers, president of the joint school board, had earlier given a general picture of where the board stands. Rogers, who is also a member of Hamilton's school board, told the Lions:

"We (Hamilton's board) had a petition presented to us Monday night signed by 353 persons." The petition "questioned" the action of Hamilton's board in entering the Pleasant Valley jointure.

"Although this petition was signed by 353 persons, we can't even get 350 persons to come out to the polls and vote in Southern Hamilton," Rogers said.

Rogers then displayed newspaper stories which appeared during the months when Hamilton board members and the township civil league were attempting to get answers to questions about the potential jointure last year.

The newspaper had given the meetings ample publicity, Rogers pointed out, during the time when State, county and local school officials were appearing to explain various parts of the jointure set-up, its advantages, drawbacks and the relative merits of Hamilton's joining with the West End or other communities.

At the time the meetings were being held, however, Rogers continued, "only a few people turned out for them."

Discussion To Center On Jointure

Kellersville—Members of Hamilton Township's Civic League will wade into the jointure question again at their meeting tonight at 8 in the Grange Hall here.

The jointure, hottest controversy in the West End districts at the moment, was investigated by a league committee more than a year ago, before the jointure was effected.

Few residents of the township turned out to hear the results and findings of the months of study by league members, or to ask questions.

Tonight's program as set up by league officials is to bring accumulated questions on the jointure into the open. League officials expect that representatives of both factions—pro-jointure and anti-jointure residents—will attend and make their views public.

Masons Worship In Cherry Valley

Cherry Valley—Special services were held in the church here Sunday night when members of Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, Stroudsburg, and their wives were guests of the church. Rev. C. Clyde Levergood, pastor, spoke on "What's In A Name?"

Special music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolbert, who sang two selections. Mr. and Mrs. Wolbert returned recently from a tour with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians.

Plans Drafted For Air Alert Brief Test Will Occur Next Tuesday

Second State-wide air raid alert will be held Tuesday.

Monroe County will take part. The warning of alert against "enemy attack" will come at exactly 2:35 p.m.

Warning will be flashed first by Radio Station WVPO. Taking their cue from the radio signal, the county's Civil Defense officials and local directors will flash the general warning simultaneously.

The warning will be the sound of warbling sirens and horns throughout the county. The warning of attack—the alert—will last for three minutes.

Traffic will halt at the first sounding of the alert. Cars and trucks will pull over to the side. Drivers and passengers will kill motors, crouch on the floor or seat of the car, or else seek the shelter of a building.

Only emergency traffic will be permitted to move during the brief alert. Local police and C. D. auxiliary police will halt other vehicles.

Service station owners are asked to suspend business during the alert, said C. D. Director Fred W. Davis.

Indoor businesses will carry on as usual, except where store owners wish to run simultaneous alerts for their customers or personnel.

Pedestrians should seek the nearest shelter and go indoors at the sounding of the alert.

The all-clear will sound at 2:41 p.m.

Local C. D. Directors will again report on the result in their districts, as they did in the last State-wide alert.

Union Files Objections To Election

Objections to the results of a union representation election at Worthington Mower Co. were filed Tuesday by an AFL union which lost the contest.

The result of the April 9 election showed 101 votes for representation by the International Association of Machinists (IAM) and 142 votes against IAM.

The objections were filed by IAM Grand Lodge representative Stanley Lentz. The papers were filed with the National Labor Relations Board regional office at Philadelphia.

District Business Representative Emerson Stanton, Stroudsburg, said the objections charged the management with coercion of employees through increasing the pay of employees through overtime and job evaluation just before the election; and with interference and intimidation of employees.

3-D Films Make Debut In Monroe County

Three-dimensional films, heralded as the greatest thing to happen in the motion picture industry since "talkies," made an auspicious entry in Monroe County yesterday as performances opened at the Grand Theater in East Stroudsburg.

It was Arch Oboler's "Bwana Devil" that played before large audiences which brought an entirely new concept of screen entertainment before the public.

Life-like realism created by depth-illusion made audiences flinch noticeably on several occasions as a jungle tribesman tossed a spear directly at the camera.

While the story is the least of "Bwana Devil," the plot parallels somewhat the Saturday afternoon matinee for youngsters. But the movie sustains its audience interest through unusual cinematography.

The first of many new 3-D pictures, "Bwana Devil" is introduced in a separate white prologue by Lloyd Nolan who explains how the process works and the need of special glasses, using a beauty contest winner and puppet show as props.

The new twist to the old stereoscope idea is projected on the screen by two projectors instead of the usual one. Each throws a separate image into the same frame.

With the aid of polarized glasses the viewer sees a different picture with each eye, the brain combining the images into 3-D.

Patrons at the theater are given special glasses on entering. They are worn only by that person and may be retained as a souvenir.

The feature itself, filmed in color, stars Robert Stack, Barbara Britton and Nigel Bruce in an outdoor adventure story of a railroad building project in Africa which is held up by two marauding lions.

Explorations for oil in western states sometimes bring up water instead, but this is often diverted to livestock on range.

MR. AND MRS. WOODROW WILSON at Pocono Manor in 1902, as they will be portrayed by Paul McBride and Mrs. George Wendley as part of the Coronation Fashion Show at Pocono Manor tomorrow night sponsored by the Pocono Council of Republican Women.

Coronations Past, Present, Theme Of Fashion Show, Ball

It'll be "Coronation Time" at Pocono Manor next Friday when the Mt. Pocono Council of Republican Women present a special "Coronation Show" including a state dinner, fashion show, pageant and grand ball built around the coming coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Since Pocono Manor was founded during another British coronation year in 1902, a historic pageant will be staged covering the coronation of King Edward VII 51 years ago and the present day coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

An impressive assemblage of British royalty and famous Americans including the former King Edward VII and his queen, the late John D. Rockefeller, former president Theodore Roosevelt and present day royalty and Anglo-American celebrities will be portrayed by a cast of 32 people with Mrs. George H. Humphrey of Mt. Pocono as commentator.

Following the "state dinner" which has been arranged in accordance with official protocol of the period 1902, including the lavish menus of that era, Hess Brothers of Allentown will present a fashion show of original imports from the couture houses of Rome and Florence, and coronation fashions from well-known American designers.

Two of the models will take part in the pageant following the fashion show and will wear special coronation gowns which Hess Brothers imported from the Italian couture openings in Rome this past season.

The part of Queen Elizabeth II will be played by Joan Cornelius. Joan Quarry will assume the role of the younger sister of the new Queen—Princess Margaret Rose. Both girls were selected, as the complete cast was, for their resemblance to the notables whose roles they will play.

Pocono Mountains residents playing the roles of members of British royalty include Frank Birdsall and Mrs. E. O. Headrick as Lord and Lady Suffolk; Fred Schneider as Sir Frederick Treves; Mrs. Berne Cramer as the Queen Mother; Harry Taylor and Mrs. Andrew McGinley as Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill; Ralph B. Baxter as the Duke of Edinburgh; and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Walker, Sr., as King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra.

Other members of the cast will portray the Great of the past who visited here: Cornelius Carney as John D. Rockefeller; Paul McBride and Mrs. George Wendley as Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson; Dr. E. O. Headrick as President Theodore Roosevelt; Mrs. David Bisping as Madam von Andre; Michael DeSanto and Mrs. Paul Derr as Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt; Mrs. Janet Schultz as Virginia Biddle; George Wendley and Mrs. Leonard Morrison as Senator and Mrs. Chauncey Depew; and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Walker Jr., as Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt.

Miss Agnes Hans and Dr. Walter Schneider will play the role of the bride and bridegroom of 50 years ago; Mrs. Louis C. Ingersoll, Mrs. Joseph Strohsahl and Mrs. Wardell Mezger will play three spinsters. Mrs. Walter

Mt. Regional Guild At Trachsville

The 12th Spring Meeting of the Mountain Regional Guild of the Ev. and Reformed Church was held yesterday in Jerusalem Church, Trachsville, with county women playing important roles. Mrs. Charles Weidman, Stone Church, president, presided at the meeting.

The theme was "Christ Calls to Missions and Unity". Mrs. Alton Albright served as organist and Mrs. Samuel George of Trachsville gave the greeting. Mrs. C. L. Brochman, president of the Synodical Guild, was the chief speaker during the morning.

Reports of the various departments were given in the form of a court trial with Mrs. Fred Quig, Stroudsburg, as judge; Mrs. Earl Ott as the prosecutor and Mrs. Weidman as the accused.

A consecration service conducted by Mrs. Harold Gregory of Gilbert closed the morning session. A box luncheon was served at noon.

The afternoon session opened with a worship service presented by the women of the Gilbert Church with Mrs. Joyce Christman of Trachsville as soloist and Mrs. Ada Green as accompanist.

Mrs. Carl H. Beck, a former missionary to China, spoke on the effects of Communism there. Mrs. A. S. Leiby installed the new chairman including Mrs. Lee Crossdale and Mrs. Melvin Dunn of Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Fred Quig, of Stroudsburg, was named delegate to the convention to be held in Cleveland with Mrs. Dunn as alternate. There were six representatives from Zion Reformed Church at the conference.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

And you needn't claim that nature plays no favorites. Look what she did to the housewives last washday. She chapped their hands while they were hanging up the clothes, whipped their best blouse to ribbons and scattered the white socks all over the hillyard hedge, and then rained on the whole shebang.

Look what she did to the conscientious householder who took down his storm windows—merely whipped her up a whirlwind and scooped all the heat out of the house as fast as he could fire the furnace.

And then see how differently she treated the fishermen yesterday. Moderated the wind, cleared the sky, and shined up the sun. Unmuddied the waters enough to make them run clear, ruffled them enough to make the lures act natural.

Then, while earnest souls chafed at their desks, she warmed the shoulders of the fisherfolk, heated up the rocks where they sat to rest, and spun all around them the enchantment of early spring. Teacher's pets that's what they are.

One thing she forgot, though, was to warm the water. That was mighty chilly stuff that kept slopping over the boot tops, they tell me.

Ever-welcome Class The Ever-Welcome Class of the Stroudsburg Methodist Sunday school will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in the church parlor. Following the meeting there will be a household demonstration. Mrs. Jennie Miller and Mrs. Edna Imb will serve as hostesses.

Schneider and Kenneth Eanoff will play the part of Mamie and Henry Cruse in 1902 and Mamie and Henry Cruse will play themselves in the present day coronation activities of the pageant.

The various historical activities attendant to a coronation will be covered in the commentary. Research for the pageant was handled by commentator Mrs. George Humphrey.

Following the pageant, guests will be invited to gather in the Terrace Room of Pocono Manor to attend the "Coronation Ball" which will be led by pageant cast members, King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra.

Over 600 people are expected to be in attendance at the event.

Reception Meeting At St. Paul's Church

Swiftwater—St. Paul's Reformed Church was the scene of two special meetings last week with the reception for new members and their families on Thursday night and the meeting of the Ladies Aid Society on Wednesday night to prepare for it.

During the Aid Society's business meeting plans were made to purchase a supplementary number of hymnals for the church with contributions for individuals and from the society, and for a bake sale to be held May 16 at Wyckoff's.

Pearl and Edith Werkheiser were welcomed as new members. Ethel Bach and Alta Coffman volunteered to take over the church vases for the month. Beatrice Bush and Ethel Bach will serve as hostesses at the next meeting, May 14.

Mrs. Turn gave a brief outline of various flower varieties that are common to the state namely the azalea, camellia, gardenia, magnolia, dahlia and rose, elaborating on the Cherokee Rose which is the Georgia State flower. The speaker said that while many of these varieties are found growing in the northern states, they are not as abundant.

A discussion of flowers followed the talk with members contributing information on flowers. Spring flowers of forsythia, japonica arranged with boxwood. Mrs. Turn gave the refreshment table and Mrs. B. H. Bensley and Mrs. C. N. Guillot were hostesses to the club group.

It gives one a peculiar feeling, after having lived in a town almost all one's life, to not recognize it when shown a postcard picture. That happened to me yesterday, when Lizzie Koch handed me a view of Main Street, taken in color, back in the horse and buggy days. Somehow it's difficult to associate the tranquil, tree-lined street of years ago with the hustle and bustle of today. It's almost impossible to search the picture and see, back behind the tree trunks, almost hidden by the graceful, canopy of abundant leaves, the landmarks that gradually gave way before the onslaught of modernization and progress.

One of the pictures in Lizzie's folder shows the old Hotel Fulmer, a neat, frame building which could proudly advertise that it was right in the heart of things. Indeed it was—and right on the trolley line too. But if I didn't know from hearsay, I'd have a terrible time identifying this bare, conservative looking building as the friendly, hospitable Penn-Stroud Hotel of today.

It's difficult too to recognize the Malta Temple building because today's A and P store on the main floor differs greatly from the photographic studio and postoffice that were once there. (Remember the big stairway that went right up between the two? Many a time I climbed it enroute to a dreaded dental appointment . . . and the trip up was never as light-hearted as the trip down, a half hour or so later!)

According to Lizzie's pictures, Court House Square hasn't changed a great deal . . . the trees are still there, and the same porch stoops. The only thing is, there's a World War I statue there now, and the cars parked all around are quite different than those in the picture. Posten's jewelry store is gone from the corner of Sixth and Main too—but I can remember the fun it was to look in that window. The jewels seemed, to imaginative eyes, fabulous and wonderful.

Lizzie even has a picture of the old school on the hill—a bare, stark structure with cupola and wooden porch . . . and calls back to us the memory of Jerome Slutter—the warm hearted janitor whom all the children loved, and Lillie Bittenbender, who taught generations of Stroudsburg children their A, B, C's. Fire destroyed that building, but nothing can destroy the memories. Like the mail service, they survive wind, rain, sleet and dark of night, plus anything else you can offer in way of strife and turmoil.

Searching Lizzie's pictures carefully, I see a white frame building in the distance. She tells me it was Wyckoff's. It would be impossible to describe it, except to state that it bears little resemblance to the Wyckoff's of today. To say that we've changed is putting it mildly. For the better? Well, I doubt that. We've ALWAYS been tops for the times! We've progressed . . . flourished . . . and still feel as enthusiastic as did the pioneers in the business. And today—just read those ads! We're offering our "happy birthday" to you in a very SPECIAL way.

Construction of the plant, at Mountain Top, Pa., in the area between Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton, is expected to be completed by next fall.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Ray Steele, former baseball and basketball star at East Stroudsburg High school, is now on the pitching roster of the Williamsport entry in the class "A" Eastern League. Ray was scheduled to pitch against Savannah, Ga., of the class "A" South Atlantic League, on Monday of this week. Steele was optioned to Williamsport by Ottawa, of the class "AAA" International League. If Steele should remain with Williamsport it will afford his many friends in this area the opportunity of seeing him pitch in Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Reading.

Steele pitched three innings against Chattanooga while with Ottawa earlier in the spring. The Pike County resident gave up three hits, one walk and one run, but was declared the winning pitcher when Ottawa tallied twice in the top of the sixth to win by a 4-2 count. Stroudsburg Little League will be represented in Phoenixville, Pa., today, at a district meeting, at which time the expanding state Little League setup may have its present district setup changed.

Bernie Kuczynski, former end for the University of Pennsylvania football team, is the new grid coach at Catasauqua High, an annual power in the Lehigh Valley League. Kuczynski, who had a brief fling at major league baseball with the A's, may also coach baseball at Catasauqua. Bernie graduated from Penn in 1943 and then completed graduate work at the same school in 1948. Kuczynski captained Penn in his senior year and was assistant football coach at Coatesville High for the past two years. He is scheduled to teach high school social studies at Caty.

Dallas E. Heffner, a member of the Lehigh High school faculty will coach baseball at that school this season. Heffner takes over for George Bibbighaus, veteran mentor who resigned at the end of the basketball season just completed. Tommy Hines, former Stroudsburg High football and baseball star, is on leave from the Navy Sea Bees at the present time. The Mt. Pocono resident is scheduled to be discharged from the Navy in September. Joe Murray, baseball and basketball coach at Barrett High, is an officer in the Scranton Marine Corps Reserves at the present time. Joe plans to spend two weeks at a reserve camp during the coming summer months.

Bill and John Schoonover, former baseball greats in this section of Pennsylvania, are scheduled to judge a Fox Hound show in Middleville, N. Y. during the final weekend of this month. John, who managed Pocono A.C., an entry in the Blue Mountain League, for the past two seasons, celebrated a birthday yesterday, but refused to reveal which one. John apparently has given up baseball in favor of training horses and foxhounds. Chris Denis, basketball coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is the talk of the campus because of his outstanding umpiring technique.

Work is running smoothly at Gordon Giffels field at the present time. Bleachers have been placed in a permanent position, except for a small section still in center field as of last night. Work is under way on the infield, which should look like a million dollars when labor is completed. The base paths are being cut according to measurement and resodding of the infield is already underway. With every break in the books the field could be ready for play next Tuesday, the date on which Stroudsburg is slated to play host to Pen Argyl. If the field isn't ready to be used next Tuesday, the Pen Argyl-Stroudsburg encounter will be played at Pen Argyl.

Authorities of Pocono High school are to be congratulated for allowing Stroudsburg High to use its field tomorrow, in order that the Stroudsburg-Catasauqua baseball battle could be fought in this area. I know that Stroudsburg is grateful. The Mountaineers received at least a dozen new bats and new catching equipment yesterday, but the new uniforms reportedly on the way, had failed to arrive when school adjourned for the day. East Stroudsburg High's pitching was plenty sharp in yesterday's practice tussle with Pocono, as the Cavaliers went on to win a 7-0 count.

Bill Sommers, Harry Caulfield and Joe Antonucci did the hurling for the winning squad. Bob Hallet, first of three Pocono moundsmen, also turned in a nifty bit of pitching. Alden "Red" Fetherman, former three-letter athlete at Stroudsburg High, is now playing center field for Bluefield, W. Va., of the class "D" Appalachian League. Fetherman recently honored for his club, at its spring training base, Winter Garden, Fla., and is now finding the hitting range. Fetherman is hopeful of rejoining the Scranton club before the present campaign passes into history.

Ernest Wescoe, a resident of West Catasauqua, is the only newly registered baseball official in PIAA District 11 this spring.

Panzer Edges ESSTC In Opening Baseball Tilt, 11-8

Krall's Home Run In Seventh Fails To Save Normal Hillers

East Orange, N. J. — Panzer College came up with three runs in the seventh and a clincher in the eighth yesterday to turn East Stroudsburg State Teachers College into a victim on opening day, 11-8, after the visiting baseball squad held an 8-7 advantage after six and one-half innings of play.

Frank Verduce, freshman right fielder for Panzer, was the difference between the two teams. Verduce blasted out four hits in five trips to the plate and made two game-saving plays in the outfield.

Verduce picked up what appeared to be a sure single by Hobart "Hobe" Hutchins early in the game and threw the peppery little catcher out at first base, just when the Warriors seemed to have a rally underway. Tom Foley blasted a long drive to right in the ninth, with a runner on first. The ball appeared destined for three bases, but Verduce turned his back to the infield and at the last second leaped into the air and made the catch, stopping a last ditch bid for victory by the visiting squad.

Good Start

ESSTC opened the game with a four-run explosion in the first frame, but Panzer took advantage of Bob Mellman's wildness in the second round to score three times.

Ken Antoine, freshman center fielder for ESSTC, blasted a bases full double in the fifth to give the visiting contingent two more runs and a 6-3 advantage. Panzer came right back in the bottom of the fifth to tie the count and then go ahead with a single tally in the sixth.

Lyle Krall, ESSTC's outstanding shortstop, drove a home run into deepest left field with one mate aboard in the top of the seventh to put the Warriors in front 8-7. Panzer, refusing to bow out of the contest, picked on relief hurler John Zawatsky for three runs in the seventh and an insurance marker in the eighth.

Antoine led the nine-hit attack with two blows, while Panzer banged out 11 safeties off the pitching of Mellman and Zawatsky. ESSTC also took advantage of five Panzer errors to aid its scoring.

The Warriors play their second game of the season on Saturday, when Kutztown State Teachers College invades Normal Hill at 2 p.m.

Rain May Wreck Washington Baseball Again

Washington, (AP)—Baseball is scheduled to make its belated bow in Washington today with President Eisenhower throwing out the traditional first pitch. But all is not well, for the weather man says it's going to rain. A tight timetable has been set up for the Eisenhower pitch and any disturbance in the timing will throw the whole program out of kilter.

Phillies Trip Giants Behind Simmons, 8-1

Philadelphia, (AP)—Young Curt Simmons pitched a five-hitter and joined in a 14 hit assault on four New York Giants' pitchers with a pair of singles and a double to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-1 victory at Connie Mack Stadium yesterday.

Simmons tried everything but standing on his head in a weird game of errors, hit batsmen and hit runners. The southpaw tried to steal home in the fourth but was out at the plate.

Five Strikeouts
Simmons walked three and struck out five with the only run scored against him being Bobby Thomson's second home run in two days.

Del Ennis hammered his first homer of the season with a man on base in the first inning which was enough to hang the defeat on Al Corwin, first New York hurler. New York, 000 100 000—1 5 4 Philadelphia, 201 101 30s—8 14 1

Trautman Backs Hot Springs Club

Columbus, O. (AP)—George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, yesterday ruled, forfeiture of the Hot Springs, Ark., franchise by the Cotton States was not valid.

Ruling
Trautman also ruled "the employment of Negro players has never been, nor is now, prohibited by any provision in the major-minor league agreement, the major-minor league rules or the National Association agreement."

Whether a National Association club chooses to employ a player of any race, color or creed is a decision for the club itself to make.

Warriors Bow In Initial Tennis Venture

East Orange, N.J. — East Stroudsburg State Teachers College went down to defeat in its initial tennis venture of the season here yesterday, as Panzer scored a 5-4 victory over the visiting net Warriors.

Panzer used the doubles event as a springboard to victory, as each school picked up three victories in singles matches.

The host contingent opened hostilities with a victory in the number one singles match, as Clark took the measure of Don Toth, 6-1, 6-1. Panzer made the score 2-0 as Zabriske defeated Craig Leatherman in the second singles encounter, 6-2, 7-5.

First Win

Joe Maioriello, the only veteran college campaigner on the squad, gave ESSTC a lift in the third singles match with a 6-4, 6-1 verdict over Panzer's Simon. Carson Deffenbaugh evened matters for the Warriors with a 6-1, 6-2 decision over Weinberg in the fourth singles encounter.

Panzer got the jump again in the fifth singles event when Arnold won over Carlton Lutz, 6-1, 6-1. Bill Maioriello pulled the Warriors back on an even footing once again by winning the final singles battle from Sileric, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

The hometown racket crew won the first two doubles matches to cement victory. Clark and Arnold combined to defeat ESSTC's Dick McDonough and Toth in the first doubles event, 6-0, 6-1. Panzer's Zabriske and Simon put the match on ice by winning over Joe Maioriello and Deffenbaugh, 9-7, 6-4.

ESSTC won the meaningless final doubles encounter as Leatherman and Bill Maioriello took the measure of Sileric and Weinberg, 6-3, 6-4.

The tennis Warriors play their next matches on the Normal Hill courts on Saturday, with Kutztown State Teachers College supplying the opposition. The matches are listed for 2 p.m.

Langlois Nods Miceli

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Frenchman Pierre Langlois came back after two early knockdowns last night to punch out a 10-round decision over Joe Miceli of New York in the main event at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Langlois, the fourth ranking middleweight, hit the deck in the second and third rounds as Miceli, the tough ex-soldier from New York's lower East Side, landed with his unorthodox southpaw uppers.

Rally
But the rugged Frenchman rushed to the attack in the fourth and was clearly the best in the late rounds of a battle that delighted an audience of 3,652.

Judge Fred Wilbanks gave Langlois six rounds, Miceli three, and called one even. Judge Gus Jacobsen scored it a draw, giving each fighter four rounds and calling two even. Referee Cy Goff awarded Langlois six rounds, Miceli four.

Langlois weighed in at 158½ Miceli, the fourth ranking welterweight, came in at 150.

Although the fight was televised locally as well as over the CBS network, a near-capacity audience paid a gross gate of $10,185 to see the "live" action.

Eastburg Downs Pocono

East Stroudsburg High won over Pocono High in a practice baseball game at East Stroudsburg Play-ground yesterday, 7-0. Bill Sommers, Harry Caulfield and Joe Antonucci shared the winning mound duty. Both clubs substituted freely.

Six Entries In Monroe County Softball League Elect Slate Of Officers For Coming Campaign

Three officers for the coming Monroe County Softball League season were elected at a meeting of the circuit at the Monroe County YMCA last night.

Jack Mullins, veteran softball authority, was named president, while Herb Reisenwitz was elected secretary and Jim Riley, Sports Editor of The Daily Record, was appointed treasurer.

Six teams have announced officially that they will campaign in the league this season and all will be ready by opening day, which will be either Monday, April 27 or May 4.

The six organizations in the circuit officially are Al Besecker's

Diner, Union Printers, Shaffer's Inn, Eagles, Jack's Market and Tucker's Garage. It is reasonably certain that a seventh team will join the fold in the very near future.

Any teams interested in joining the league are asked to notify league officials as soon as possible.

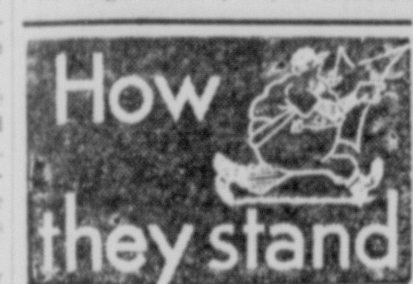

It was decided at last night's meeting that the league be officially affiliated with the Keystone Amateur Softball Association, so that the winners of a local tournament, to be held late in the season, can represent Monroe County in district playoffs to be held in state competition.

Anyone interested in umpiring league softball games is asked to contact Mullins at his home, 514 Brown St., Stroudsburg, at night or at Line Material during the day. Mullins may be reached at his home by telephone by calling Stroudsburg 3328-R. Interested umpiring candidates are also asked to attend the next meeting, next Wednesday, at 7:15 p.m., at the YMCA.

Final plans for the opening of the season will be discussed at next week's meeting. It is important that league play get under way as soon as possible so that it can be coordinated with the Keystone Association playoffs.

Glen Brook Opens 1953 Golfing Season

Glen Brook Country Club opened its gates for the 1953 golfing season yesterday, but the large crowds aren't expected to swing into action on the local course until the weekend.

Cliff Heller, chairman of the greens committee, stated last night that only the back nine holes are being used at the present time. An extensive drainage program is currently underway on the front nine.

The drainage program is expected to make Glen Brook's course ideal for play, regardless of the weather.

Special Rules

Play during the weekend will be held on the back nine for certain, although the front nine may be used with special rules, providing the weather permits.

Tony Midiri, new pro at Glen Brook, has the golf shop in mid-season condition and is ready for a large influx of players during the coming weekend. The display of equipment is one of the best in the history of the local club. A sizeable crowd of golfers toured the back nine yesterday, including several out-of-town golfers.

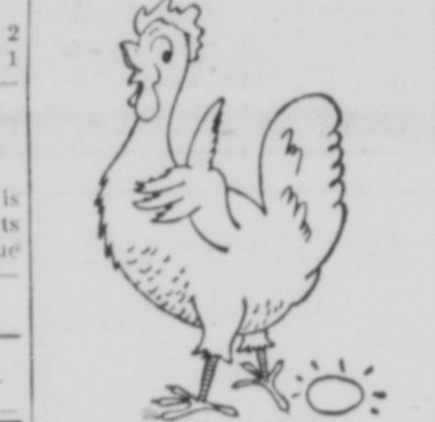

Two American Fighters Bow

Paris, (AP)—Two Americans dropped decisions at the Palais des Sports last night when Claude Miazza of France outpointed Norman Hayes of Boston in a middleweight fight and Henry "Pappy" Gault, Spartansburg, S. C., heavyweight, was beaten by Robert Cohen of Algeria.

Close

Both were 10-round scraps. Hayes weighed 162 pounds but had to sweat out two pounds after the official weigh-in in order to make the contract poundage. Miazza tipped the scales at 160.

Perjury Indictment Against Former Kentucky Cager Dropped By New York District Attorney

New York (AP)—A year-old perjury indictment against William Spivey, former University of Kentucky basketball star, was dismissed yesterday, an action which in effect, cleared him of accusations growing out of the game-fixing scandal.

The District Attorney's office said it saw no use in trying the case again. A trial jury deadlocked on the charges last January, voting 9-3 for acquittal.

Defense attorney Harold O. Frenkel hailed the dismissal as proof that the 23-year-old Spivey "is innocent." And in Lexington, Ky., Spivey said he hoped to return to the university to obtain his bachelor's degree. He is ineligible for college ball because he has been playing with barnstorming pro troops.

Spivey, seven-foot former All-

America player, was the only one to stand trial among 32 players from eight schools involved in the scandal. Most of the others pleaded guilty or turned state's evidence.

Charge

Spivey was accused of perjury in denying he took $1,000 from gambler Jack "Zip" West to rig the score of the Sugar Bowl Tournament game between Kentucky and St. Louis University. Kentucky was supposed to win by a limited margin, under the prevailing "point spread," but instead it lost.

General Sessions Judge Seil B. Streit, a caustic critic of collegiate sports, dismissed the indictment without comment. Asst. District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor conceded he no longer had a case because one witness was dead, another refused to testify and the remaining witnesses lacked credibility because of their own connection with the game-fixing.

West, now serving a two-to-three year prison term for bribery, refused to testify against Spivey unless he was allowed to withdraw his guilty plea. Eli Kaye, a gambler whom the prosecution claimed had dealings with Spivey, died last August.

Two of Spivey's former teammates, Walter Hirsch and James Line, were the only available witnesses. They were implicated in the scandals and they had given grand jury testimony which they later contradicted. They asserted the false grand jury testimony was given in an attempt to shield a friend, but the two factors, O'Connor said, would impair their credibility as witnesses.

MacPhail Reportedly Suffering From Cancer

Baltimore, (AP)—Larry MacPhail, dynamic sports promoter facing trouble with police and racing officials for his outspoken manner, yesterday was reported to be suffering from the dread disease of cancer.

Charles Terry, manager of MacPhail's cattle and thoroughbred breeding farm at Bel Air, Md., said his 63-year-old boss has cancer of the throat.

Terry said MacPhail had consulted with Dr. James Moore in New York City Tuesday and been ordered not to talk for two weeks. No information was available on the stage of the disease or whether surgery will be required.

Seclusion

The former head of three major baseball league teams who turned to horse racing administration last year, had gone into seclusion. Telephones to his farm were disconnected Tuesday night. Dr. Moore refused to comment.

Meanwhile, the Maryland Racing Commission and state police said they had no requests for postponement of hearings scheduled next week for MacPhail.

Charges for both hearings resulted from MacPhail's alleged argumentative remarks last Saturday at Bowie Race Track, of which he is president.

MacPhail has posted bond of $263.50 for a hearing Monday in Hyattsville, Md., on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct and assaulting a state trooper.
